January CLGC Meeting “FAA Topics of Interest” With Dave Vogessor Don't Miss It!!

Tue, January 11, 7:30PM - Herrick JHS

New B-Airspace for Chicago, details on boundaries and ceilings. Flight paths into ORD and MDW for different wind directions. What does this mean for our glider operations? New glider transponder code 1201, what is the ATC experience to date, have you changed your approach procedures, are we visible and does this dedicated code help? How can we further improve safe operations in our busy airspace, educate controllers regarding glider and tow traffic, when should we as glider pilots consider making calls on approach frequencies (would we ever get a clearance to transit B-Airspace, transponder equipped only)?

ALL AIRCRAFT MUST RE-REGISTER WITH FAA!

The FAA's Re-Registration and Renewal of Aircraft Registration rule went into effect on October 1, 2010. Aircraft registrations issued on or after this date will expire after three years when they may be renewed. Aircraft registered before October 1, 2010, are required to re-register during the next three years according to the schedule provided in 14 CFR Part 47.40. Reminder notices will be sent using the address of record, so please make sure your address is up to date.

The first group of aircraft to be re-registered are those aircraft that have a current registration issue date during the month of March, from all years. Application for re-registration of these aircraft should be made between November 1, 2010, and January 31, 2011. Making an early application will ensure the new certificate of registration can be delivered before the old certificate expires on March 31, 2011.

More information about these and other changes can be found at <http://tinyurl.com/faaregister>.

Questions may be directed toll free to 866-762-9434.
